PHI Air Medical Opens New Base in Red Bluff, California

RED BLUFF, CA, December 9th, 2024 – PHI Air Medical proudly announces the opening of their new air medical base in Red Bluff, California, which goes into service on December 6th, 2024.

After reviewing flights conducted by PHI’s two surrounding bases, a need for an additional base in this area was identified. This new base will expand existing access to lifesaving care with an additional emergency air evacuation aircraft and crew.

“We are so proud to announce the opening of this new base in Red Bluff.” Says Eric Lewis, Program Director at PHI Air Medical. “With this extension of our reach, we will be better equipped to serve the Red Bluff community and provide the crucial care they need when life-threatening emergencies occur.”

Paul Julander, COO at PHI Air Medical, shares this excitement about the new base, saying:

“This is a testament to our company’s mission of moving communities to health. At PHI, we are dedicated to providing the highest levels of care in the safest way possible. I look forward to seeing what this new Red Bluff team accomplishes together.”

PHI Cares, PHI Air Medical’s membership program, is already available to Red Bluff residents and costs $65 per year for a household. Residents should join by visiting www.phicare.com and can save $10 on their first year of membership by using code DEC24.

This new base, Callsign Med 49, will be located at 1790 Airport Blvd and equipped with a Bell 407. Residents interested in open positions at the new Red Bluff base or any of the PHI Air Medical locations should explore our career opportunities online at phiairmedical.com/career-opportunities/
